

U.S. Army

SIERRA ARMY DEPOT : CALIFORNIA

Sierra Army Depot (SIAD) is located in the high desert plains of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, in an isolated, arid region dominated by sagebrush. The community of Herlong, CA, surrounds the base. The closest major city to the depot is Reno, NV.

SIAD was established in 1942 as an ammunition storage facility. However, its mission changed in 2002. The depot offers a full range of logistics support by providing asset receipt and visibility, classification, management, storage, distribution, maintenance, assembly and containerization, and the rapid worldwide shipment of material in support of the warfighter.

In 2014, SIAD had an estimated economic impact of $443.3 million to the California and Nevada local economies.

FAST FACTS

- » Location: Lassen County, CA
- » Land Area: 36,806 acres
- » Military Personnel: 1
- » Civilian Personnel: 1217
- » Contractor Personnel: 215

For more information, please see <http://www.sierra.army.mil/Public/>

Above: Airfield at SIAD. (U.S. Army photo)

Left: Track and tactical wheeled vehicles stored at SIAD (U.S. Army photo)

MISSION STATEMENT

Provides rapid expeditionary logistics support and long-term sustainment solutions to the Army and the Joint Force.

COMMANDER RANK

Lieutenant Colonel

UNIQUE CHARACTERISTICS

- » Provides unique readiness and financial value added back to the Army through redistribution of critical assets.
- » Designated as the Army's Center of Industrial Technical Excellence for all Petroleum and Water Distribution Systems.

CONTACT

Public Affairs Office
(530) 827-4343