NEW MEXICO ARMY NATIONAL GUARD : NEW MEXICO

With a long and storied history, the New Mexico Army National Guard has existed under three flags since the time of the Spanish conquistadors and has played decisive roles in nearly every major conflict since the Spanish-American War, including participating in the legendary charge of San Juan Hill under Teddy Roosevelt and pursuing Pancho Villa after his forces raided Columbus, NM.

Today, the New Mexico Army National Guard includes units from the 1st Battalion, 200th Infantry;

64th Civil Support Team, 226th MP BN, 515th CSSB BN and the 44th Army Band. The New Mexico Air National Guard consists of the 150th Special Operations Wing, which operates out of Kirtland Air Force Base.

The New Mexico National Guard has an economic impact of over $247 million on the local economy.
